PORTLAND, FRIDAY, AUG. 20, 1886. IGNORED, AND WHY,

Reports from the democratic convention held at Tacoma on Wednesday, gave no account of the consideration given the figure ques-tion, leaving it to be inferred that an alliance been formed with the whisky interest. Such is, a fair construction of utter silence re specting this question at the present time the foremost interest in the public mind. Members of the convention now in this city en route to their homes, deep or doubt that a burgain has been made, but when confronted with the facts in the case, the more candid among them admit reluctantly that it "may be so." We cannot doubt that it is so, since besides the eignificant fact of silence, such a job would be in exact accord with the method and practice of the political managers and the whisky dig. Both are used to this sort of jub-berr, and the association would be a natural one. It is a most suggestive fact that a convention in which there was a large prohib-tion element was induced to coult all reference to the liquor question in its platform, and to stiffs all discussion of it in its public sessions. We have it from absolutely reliable authority that two propositions were submitted to the caucus called to consider this question, which the managers did not dare trust to an open disconsider. One was to ndept the plank from the national democratic platform—"We are opposed to sumptuary laws which vex the citizen," etc. The other was a declarating that the democratic way was prepared to acquiesce in and enforce any leastletter. egislation to regulate or neetrain the evils of in-semperance, which had been or might be ena proper expression of the severeign will in the s of the right of self-government.

These propositions were discussed at some length and with much earnestness and finally the caucus determined to leave the question severely alone. The convention, so a member es, "did not care to juggle with terms by declaring against sumptuary laws which vex the citizens,' in the face of the action of such democratic states as Georgia, Mississippi, Ar-baness and Missouri." Probably there were but few people in the convention who for a moment believed that a prohibitory liquor law is a sumptoary law, and, in deference to an unmislakable public sentiment in Washington territory, they did not care by innuendo to suggest the evidence of any such belief.

The other proposition was but the assertion of an obvious fact, that, if the legislature should an outcome fact, that, if the legislature should entact a law, the party would acquies a in and enforce it. It was liable to the objection of the sumpteary law proposition, that its true intent was to deceive the people. To formulate in a platform a declaration that assent would be riven to any act passed by the majority might have been very agreeable to the prohibitionists; but, as a matter of fact, each assent is implied in the nature of things under our term of gov-ernment, in reference to every legislative en-actment. A declaration of this kind is the gra-tellicus expression of a truism—an absurdity.

Upon trustworthy information from those having opportunities to know the sentiments of individual members of the convention, it is sinted that a number of active prohibitionists were in attendance. The convention was a fair collection of representative man. The by a prohibition plank, and the anti-prohibition-ists were troubled with similar fears of the effect of an opposing plank. We cannot doubt that these natural fears were magnified artfully by the managers whose purpose it was to bring about the non-committal attitude.

It is not to the credit of the convention that it was scared into silence upon the foremost question in the minds of the people. There is no middle ground upon this question. If any position is taken upon it, it must be for or against. A declaration by any party that it is in favor of self-government upon the liquor question, is entirely superfluous.

IN FAVOR OF COERCION.

Ed. Phelps was too busy entertaining a lot of dukes and other notables to attend the costomacy Fourth of July celebration at the United States legation. Things will be different when we have an American minister in England. —Philadelphia Press. It is also reported that Mr. Phelps has declared himself against home rule and in favor of resolute coercion as the only solution of the Irish problem. It is singular how a change of air and climate medices. Mr. Photps's opinions. During the war he was litter in opposed to Lin-coin as the exponent of the policy of coercion and was an enthusiastic friend of "Home Rule" and was an entirelistic friend of "Home Rule" at the South to the extremity of the doctrine of state supremacy and the right of secession. But when the Irish people, who furnish 50 per cent of the democratic vote in the great dries of the North, want home rule, Mr. Phelps believes in coercion as the heroic cure for a disease whose logical drift is in the direction of secession. Mr. pe may be sure that his friendship for coercton will not make him very popular with that large and powerful factor of his party, the Irish-Americans. Still, Mr. Phelps is logical in his sympathics. He believed in the constitutional right of a slaveholder to coerce his bondman and rob tilm of the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happaness; he believed in the "home rule" right of the few to buildoze the many, when he defende the secondar and retellion of an oligarchy of 550,000 planters, and with porfect consistency to-day he believes in the right of Powland to attempt the respectively. in the right of England to enforce, through coerdion, the robbery of Ireland's full pulitical and social rights; her industrial liberty and romality. That is he recognizes the right of the Caucasian to keep the African in chains as an interior race, the natural howers of wood and drawers of waters, such the logically recognizes the right of the saxon to rule the celt; he believes that night is right in such matters, that the logical recognizes the inferior and weaker taca must go to the wall and if they will not like the Irid, go to the wall as mesky as to the Arrivu and the Mongolian, then anothe this price of coercion. Make every statute instinct with the spirit of the ruck and the funth series. There is something infinitely absuced in the control to the spirit of the ruck and the funth series. trast between Minister Phelps's affectionate address to a meeting of English working nea a year ago, when he told them that he was the working man's friend at bome and abroad, and his present prononcement for coercion as the only rolution of the Iriph question. He was not sincere when he posed as the working man's friend, but he is entirely sincere and consistent when he declares in favor of applying the policy of coercion as the cure of the Trish troubles. Phelps believes not in the primitive rights of the human race, but in the acquired rights of superior races. He believes in the right of the superior races. He believes in the right of the Caucasian everywhere to make a brickyard mule of the African; he believes in the right of the Saxon to subjugate, slaughter and swindle the Celt, not because he has any moral right to play ruffian and pirate with the rights of man, but he cause he has the immoral might and is unprincipled enough to exercise it. Mulister Phelips's sincere sympathies are with artificial rights and acquired authorities of race over the early size. acquired authority of tace over race and class over class, and yet how absurdly thes over class, and yet how absurdly these keen lawyers act when they try to make their logic and their sympathies march hand in hand. When Lincoln, in defense of the Union and Liberty, coerced the South. Minister Phelps shouted "Shame," shook hands with Vallandigham and exchanged photographs with Jeif Daris. Then Mr. Phelps fairly purpled from head to foot with rage, because Lincoln dared to threaten the South's "home rule" right to rob a race of life, liberty and proparty. The

the South to coerce for the sake of slavery. His sympathies were unchangeable, but his logic was as nimble and slinking as a snake in the grass; indeed it was symbolized in venom and grass: indeed it was symbolized in venom and movement by the copperhead, under whose name and sign he sought to configur. And then when this Minister Phelps crosses the water, he defended the right of England to coerce Ireland or the Celt, just as he defended the right of the South to coerce the negro; he denies the right or justice of home rule for Ireland that he eloquently defended for the South, when in vindication of the doctrine of state supremucer she someth to suit the country vindication of the doctrine of state su-premacy she sought to split the country and spit on the flag. As we remarked before, Mr. Phelips's sympathles are always with the tyranny of caste and class where-ever he may be, and no matter how numble may be his logic, it is always used in England or America for the same purpose, viz., the asser-tion of the right of the superior few to coerce the inferior many; the denial of the right of the inferior many to coerce the aristocratic few. inferior many to course the aristocratic few. His logic is as variable as a flock of bats, but his sympathies are consistent and sincere. He was the volce of the right of the few to harness the many to their chariet in America, and he is to-day the champion of the few in England who wish to keep Ireland forever to fetters.

Several San Francisco papers, notably the Chronicle and Post, predict that San Francisco will capture the whole trade of southern Oregon as soon as connection between the California & Oregon and the Oregon & California roads is made. This prediction finds some credit here and the advancement of the California road toward Oregan is viewed by some of our busitoward Oregon is viewed by some of our business men with alarm. There will no doubt be an effect on the part of San Francisco to take this field, and she may gain a share of its business. ness, but we cannot believe that she will get it all or any great proportion of it. Other things being equal, and in this case they are about equal, people prefer to do business in their own state, and if we do a fair part in our deallngs with Southern Oregon, we will certainly hold the bulk of its trade. We have one great advantage in the fact that the productions of Southern Oregon will find less competition in this market than in the market of San Francisco and, presumably, better prices. We have had several alarms of this kind and baye lost business from time to time in our own immediate field, in the Sound country, in Southern Oregon and in the Columbia river basin, but always in the long run we gain. It is a fact which any of the large merchants will attest that Portland, in spite of direct Eastern competition, sells more goods now than in the height of the boom three years ago. It is in the nature of things for the commercial city of the state to grow with the growth of a state and Portland will not prove Earon De Kulb, to whose memory a statue was unveiled at Baltimore, Md., on Monday last, was an Alsatian Frenchman, a brigadier general in the French army, of considerable experience in war, who entered the service of the American colonies during the revolution through the influence of Lafayette. He was an ambitious military adventure rather than a true not. tions military adventurer rather than a true patrlot, like Pulaski, but he was a man of ho very gallant and skillful soldier. He fell m tally wounded at Camden in August, 1789, at the head of the Maryland and Debaware troops, the crack corps of Gates's army, having received sleven bayonst wounds at the hands of Cornwallie's victorious soldiers.

The universal eagerness to see and hear Gen. Logan is something surprising. He is not in any sense a favorite on this coast, and has small consideration as a statesman, but wherever he moves crowds gather to catch a view of him This wonderful and most unaccountable interest in his personality was especially noticeable in San Francisco during the G. A. R. demonstration, where he attracted more attention than even Geo. Sherman, who is conspicuously a

By ignoring two at least of the questions prominent in the politics of Washington terri-tory the democracy as an organization has put itself in contempt. Now let us see if the republicane will do better,

It is to be hoped that Mr. Bayard will stick to his purpose and resign. He would do well to leave the cabinet, where he is a failure, and re-turn to the senate, where he is a useful man.

DIVING FOR A WAYCH—Lesterday morning one of the engineers engaged in making sound ings for the railroad bridge lost his gold watch in the ruler about twenty feet from the east shore in thirty feet of water. He informed some boys standing on the bank that he would pay $10 for its recovery. The news spread and, in less than half an hour, thirty or more water rate were at the scene. They had seduced two hoats and a hundred or more boulders. Taking a ruck in each shoul, the youngsters would dive down from the gunwale of the boat, and search as long as they could. These operations were kept up for nearly an hour, when suddenly all quit and pulled to shore. It is suspected that the watch was recovered and that the fluder preferred to risk what a pawulroker will all vance on it, to taking $10 in cash. They deposited no small amount of boulders, and the chances are the next survey of the river will show a lump near the bridge site. DIVING FOR A WATCH - Lesterday morning

For not less thun a quarter of a century the democratic party has rightfully labored under the shadow of being what it should not be. From the days when it was the nest of treaton and gave birth and being to armed rebellion to the present time it has been regarded with distrust. It would not be in power to-day but for the fact that by fraud and violence it has vitialed elections in the South. It is anything but complimentary to Mr. Cleveland that it should be party that elected him. The man who is not sahamed of the record of the democratic party during the last twenty-five years has little claim to being raised partiotic.

Rescued from Beath.

William J. Coughlin, of somerville, Moss., says: "In the fall of 1878 I was taken with Besensive or Luxus followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and firsh and was contined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my long as big as a half dolkar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a fired tool me of DR. Will JAM HALL'S BAIread FOR THE LUXUS. I got a bottle, when, to my surprise, I commenced to get well, and to-day I fee better than for three years."

October 223

The course of the foreign markets in the week has been an upward one. While there has been no very marked rise it is believed the markets have shown strength and an assurance that steadiness rather than uncertainty will be the rule. Few will probably think they see in Jate cables anything tending to any gradual emhancement of values, but nearly every one must believe the markets to have improved as regards undertone. Late harvests and the almost certain probability of their not reaching expectations of a month ago will bring about such a feeling. California wheats, off coast, one year ago sold at 348 646235. Now the price is but little lower, having advanced from the lowest point. New York and Chicago are showing better prices. New York and Chicago are showing better prices with probably better conditions prevailing that for some time past. San Francisco probably show for some time past. San Francisco probably shows the most remarkable change of any during the week. It has jumped forward under conditions that cannot be termed local, although speculation has gone to an extent not at all justified by existing conditions eisewhere. Slow seeling also has much to do with San Francisco prices. Shippers, while not carrying any great local of tonnage, have a considerable number of ships, and freights are both low and weak. With some new tone abroad and no prospect of a rise in freights, the wheat holder is encouraged to hange back. Again, speculators are stepping in, and the advance in interest naturally affects spot prices. It would appear that Oregon prices would soon be affected by San Francisco masmuch as last year shippers there found it advantageous to use Oregon wheat, and we sent heavily in that direction. Now there is no palacrial movement that way, the Oregon seller holding back as firmly as his California brother. To date this season 1633 tons have came forward from both sections, whoreas 16,330 tons had been received to even date last year. But little is going California and tity little to prostre the contributions. from both-sections, whoreas 16,550 tons had been received to even date last year. But little is going to Callfornia, and that little is mostly old crop. There is some going into interior mills and warehouses, however, and a better movement to tide water cannot long be delayed. Quite a fleet of vessels are in river for this and next month mading, $50 total tomage being 23,555 tons, against only 4238 this time last year. If exporters are in any need they do not permit it to be manifested, and their bids are quite low, all things considered. There must be the same dell light because of the presence of pra-chartered timnage at high rates.

There must be the same old; light because of the presence of pra-chartered tempage at high rates, and shippers, having the larger quantities of such tonnage, will be at a decided disadvantage, all have more or less of it, however, and affare more or less interested in buying cheaper than they otherwise would be. Interior valley bids are usually on basis of $1 17% here, but up to $1.25 has been paid along the west side for shipment via Yaquina or for milling. Some of our buyers have withdrawn bids and $1 17% or thereabouts for east side and probably $1.20 for thereabouts for east side and probably $1 20 for west side here are best figures named. For Walls Walls buyers talk $1 10 with probably $1 12½ ex ears here. Mure is known to have been lately offered in the interior. It may truly be stated that "In the present unsettled condition of the market an accurate quotation is not pussible." Holders will not sell and no reasonable figure would to-day buy wheat. Naturally it is expected the present excitement will soon give way to lower markets and then business will be almost as impossible as now. San Francisco to-day is a study. Options there touched a point wholly without reason. The English markets are ugain higher will, no weak point visible, other than as the re-weak point visible, other than as the will, no weak point visible, other than as the request is for distant delivery and can soon be filled there will doubtless come a decided pause, and with it a possible weakness.

Steamers to Sas Francisco have carried out some millstuffs, the market there being strong. carried out some milisturs, the market there being strong.

OATS—Irregular advices have not been without effect here, rendering buyers cautious and many refuse to put out extremes. In the past here days we are reported purchases of grey mixed at 38c, of fair white feed at 40c and of need to choice at 41623/c. For fancy or for militing the usual advance may be had and more has been paid to fill urgent needs. Shipments are free when receipts are considered and stocks here are kept low. San Francisco presents an irregular front because of the wide difference in receipts from day to day. ONIONS—The selfting price for California is $1.00. Demands only fair.
